Great White Way Goes Dark Again

NEW YORK —(AP)— A moment before, the huge fairyland of lights blazed over Broadway in garish imitation of the day.

Then—as if some giant hand snuffed out a million candles—the lights went out, hesitantly, reluctantly, over the milling throngs and leaving the "great white way" to the early dusk.

It was the third time in 10 months that the street of lights had put on its somber mantle.

POLICE QUICKLY NAB SUSPECT IN $14 ROBBERY

Woman Reports Pair Slugged Her on Doorstep.

Two northeastern Ohio men were held for questioning today by police in the slugging and robbery early this morning of Mrs. Hazel Wilcox, 15½ East Fifth street.

Mrs. Wilcox was assaulted on the doorstep of her home at 1:15 a. m. and a necklace and $14 in cash taken from her by a man whom she said she had seen earlier in the evening at the Midway night club.

She said after the assault the man jumped into a nearby parked automobile driven by another man and the pair fled.

Mrs. Wilcox gave police a description of the car and its license number, and the men were picked up by police an hour later.

Police said one of the men was 24 years old and was from Painesville, and the other, 25, was from Cleveland.

Wage Earner, Buying Power Duel to Draw

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Four years of wartime stabilization left weekly earnings and consumer prices in about the same relationship as when the program began, preliminary and unofficial figures revealed today.

This means that the average wage earner has about the same real buying power now that he had four years ago.

In October, 1942, when the stabilization program was begun, the price index stood at 119 points and weekly wages averaged $38.39. In October, 1946, the price index was 148.4 while weekly wages averaged $45.83.

Some government sources believed that if it were not for the coal strike, it could be said that the nation was moving toward an even more favorable wage-price relationship than during the past four years.

These sources, feared, however, that a prolonged coal strike would knock the economy sharply off balance by producing any or all of these unfavorable results: fresh scarcities of raw materials; mass unemployment which in turn would reduce purchasing power and lessen consumer demand for manufactured goods; higher consumer prices caused by the increased production costs which coal wage boost might bring.

Airliner Crash Bodies in Morgue

LOS ANGELES —(UP)— The bodies of 10 of 11 persons killed 13 days ago in a western airliner crash on the peak of snow-covered White mountain were in the county morgue today awaiting identification.

The 11th body, found clutching the controls and identified as that of co-pilot Ted Mathis, was to be buried today.

U. S. BLOCKS TROOP COUNT COMPROMISE

Russians Give No Signs of Concession as Molotov Pushes U. N. Issue.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—(U.P.)—The United States refused to compromise on the proposed United Nations troops inventory today and waited for Russia to give ground.

But there were no signs of Russian concessions as Soviet Foreign Minister Viacheslav M. Molotov got the floor once more in the UN political committee to push his proposal for a UN census of all Allied armed forces and bases on foreign soil.

The Americans expressed hope that Molotov would agree to extend his proposal to include troops at home as well, including uniformed members of "military type organizations" as well as regular armies. They professed a firm determination against giving in to Molotov on this point. But the Russian foreign minister was expected to stand by his original proposal.

Molotov also was faced with the necessity of replying to Britain's proposal that a system of "on the spot" verification be established to assure honesty of all United Nations' reports on the size and disposition of their troops. The second half of Britain's proposed amendment to the Molotov proposal was a duplicate of the American demand that home troops be included as well as overseas forces.

Both western countries contend that their suggested amendments would make the Molotov proposal a worthwhile prelude to the assembly's disarmament discussions — talks which British Delegate Phillip Noel-Baker said yesterday probably would "last for years."

Even the United States shied away from the British inspection proposal, however, and within minutes of its presentation by Noel-Baker in yesterday's committee meeting, there was talk of a compromise suggestion for "verifying" reports submitted by the United Nations on their overseas troops but dispensing with such a check on home troop figures. The French were reported to be authors of this suggestion.

SCHOOL STRIKE PARLEY RESUMES

ST. PAUL, Minn.—(INS)—Negotiations were to be resumed today in an effort to end the strike of 1,100 teachers which has closed St. Paul's 77 public schools to 30,000 children.

They were suspended last night after an all-day conference failed to settle the strike which became effective yesterday.

The teachers announced they would stay out until the school system's operating budget has been increased 75 per cent, allowing for general salary increases and improved school facilities.

The negotiators were three members of the school finance committee of the teachers' joint council; three members of the city council; George S. Joselius, assistant attorney general; and Dean Schweikhard, state commissioner of education.

Parents and children set up informal strike support auxiliary services. Picketing instructors, chilled by the cold, were given coffee as homes in the vicinity of schools held "open house" so they could get warm.

2 Injured When Plane Lands In Road, Crashes Into Truck

The air age came to earth near Mt. Gilead yesterday, resulting in a collision between an airplane and a truck in which two persons were injured.

A 1946 Piper cub plane piloted by Wade Dale Young, 21, of Norwalk was attempting to land on U. S. Route 42 eight miles north of Mt. Gilead about 3 p. m. when its wingtip struck a parked truck operated by John Rushen McPheron, of Whitley City, Ky.

Young and a passenger, Melvin J. Shipley, 29, also of Norwalk, both received possible brain concussions and lacerations in the crash, the state highway patrol reported.

Young said the plane's wing struck the truck, parked on the highway shoulder, spinning the plane into a group loop. Both Young and Shipley were taken to General hospital.

The plane was bound from Norwalk to Columbus when it was forced to make an emergency landing on the highway because of fog.

Officials Hope Trial Will Soften Up Lewis

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The government, racing against factory shutdowns and emptying coal bins, aimed today for swift trial of John L. Lewis and clamped down sharp new curbs to save the nation's fast-ebbing supplies of fuel.

Federal attorneys said they would press for speed at every possible point when Lewis' trial on contempt charges begins tomorrow. Thursday — Thanksgiving day — will be a holiday, but government lawyers said they would ask Judge T. Alan Goldsborough for a Friday session, breaking into the traditional long week-end after a holiday.

A high administration aide, talking with reporters on the understanding that he would not be quoted by name, said the government had pinned all its hopes for an early end to the strike on the legal proceedings. No other action was presently contemplated.

* * *

Might Bring Agreement.

In themselves, the legal moves would get no coal mined. Nor would putting Lewis in jail, as could be done if he was found guilty of contempt. But the official indicated the hope was that the legal tactics would "soften up" Lewis and push him toward making an agreement with the mines' private owners on a working contract for his 400,000 United Mine Workers.

The hope was that Lewis—instead of pursuing a strike which the official said might prove disastrous to his miners as well as to the national economy—would seek a face-saving end to the controversy.

By bargaining with the private owners, the official suggested, Lewis could gracefully slide out of the present situation without loss of prestige and without yielding on his demands, since he has never specifically stated his demands.

CITYS $500,000 TO MAKE $4,300

Mansfield is out to make another $4,300 in extra cash next year by again putting to work some $500,000 in idle money.

City Auditor Paul L. Kelley said the city's investment board voted yesterday to re-invest the fund in seventh-eighths per cent government securities.

The fund was invested in the same manner this year and the city, Monday, will have gained $4,300 through the investment, Kelley said.

Because the fund must be kept available for the Clear Fork project, it could not be invested in longer term securities which would have brought greater return, the auditor said.

Members of the investment board include Kelley, Mayor Roy W. Vaughn, Treasurer Earle K. Troll and City Solicitor Leslie K. Wagner.

WARREN PROTESTS

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Gov. Frank J Lausche made public today a protest from the Warren Chamber of Commerce against a brownout of display lighting during the coal mine shutdown. The chamber suggested that the closing of schools would be far more effective as a coal saving measure.

BRITISH FOOD 'BONUS' LESS THAN IN 1946

English Have Scant Hope of Hearty Christmas Dinner.

LONDON —(INS)— Food Minister Strachey's 1946 Christmas "bonus" to the "eating" British public is smaller than last year's.

With the exception of sugar all ration concessions are in smaller quantities than those granted in 1945.

Over the normal weekly ration, there will be increases in meat, sugar, and candy but the British housewife will be given no extra fats.

From December 8 the butter ration will be restored to 3 ounces against the present 2 ounces. The margerine ration will be cut from 4 ounces to 3 ounces. Last Christmas each man, woman and child in Britain received a bonus of 6 ounces of butter and margerine.

There will be 40 cents worth of meat for each consumer instead of the usual 25 cents worth, the extra allowance to be divided equally between carcass and canned meat. Last Christmas there was a 20 cent increase in meat supplies with the major portion of the increase allotted to carcass meat.

As far as sweets (candy) is concerned only the over 70's and the under 18's will get an extra half pound. Last year there was an extra quarter-pound for everyone.

An extra one and one half pounds of sugar can be drawn during the four weeks beginning December 8 but half a pound must be in brown sugar. Last year the increase was only one pound.

In unrationed supplies John Strachey held out the following hopes:

Turkeys—Half again as many as last year will be available, a total of 11,000 tons. He warned, however, that the turkeys were not all here yet and are subject to strikes in exporting countries."

Chickens and other poultry—Supplies are much better this year than last.

Christmas puddings—A 20 per cent increase in supplies. Dried fruits—More this year. Fresh fruits—Each child should have one pound of bananas and everyone should get one pound of oranges. There will also be limited supplies of grapefruit, grapes, pineapples, and tangerines, but first come, first served.

Steel Plants, Railways First To Feel Blow

Thousands Losing Jobs as Paralysis Spreads Rapidly Among Nation's Major Manufacturing Centers.

PITTSBURGH—(INS)—The nation's unemployment continued to skyrocket in the steel and transportation industries as John L. Lewis rejected a government appeal to send his 400,000 soft coal miners back into the pits.

An estimated 100,000 mill and railroad employes were thrown out of work by the mine shutdowns. Countless thousands of men and women in smaller manufacturing firms also were among those idle.

Several thousands more steelworkers will be added to the steadily mounting list today when the sprawling Carnegie-Illinois steel plants in the Pittsburgh area cut production to 35 per cent of normal.

A spokesman for the U. S. Steel subsidiary said that a total of 14 blast furnaces have been taken out of production. Before the coal shutdown Carnegie-Illinois operated 24 in Pittsburgh.

In the mine fields, diggers had varied opinions on the duration of the strike.

Predict Long Tieup.

Miners at Bridgeville and Library, Pa., declared it would last anywhere from "10 days to five or six months." West Virginia officials predicted no immediate danger and Ohio Brass company has coal supplies to carry through to the first of the year, officials stated.

Signs Darkened.

Last night several hundred electric signs in the city's business district were darkened in compliance with a brown-out order from the government to conserve coal.

Orlo L. Smith, commercial representative of the Ohio Public Service company, today praised the merchants as "very cooperative" in carrying out the order which left downtown streets dark except for spotty illumination by 60-watt bulbs.

Smith said that 135 large signs including theater marquees, were turned off automatically as the flat rate circuit was disconnected at OPS yesterday.

Meanwhile, nearby communities reported dwindling fuel supplies as the coal strike went into its sixth day.

In Shelby, J. D. Akins, manager of the municipal electric light plant, estimated only a 24-day fuel supply was on hand.

Mayor William F. Amann of Galion said the municipal power plant had a 21-day coal supply.

In Bucyrus, Mayor R. L. Hertzler said the city received its power from the Ohio Public Service company, which previously had reported a 54-day fuel supply.

CAR KILLS ARTIST

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Robert B. Leonard, 60, former St. Louis and Chicago artist and theatrical designer, was struck and killed by an automobile yesterday.

Gas-Heated School 'Burns Up' Pupils.

CHEYENNE, Wyo. — (AP) — Junior high school students listened enviously to reports that students in all other Cheyenne schools would have "coal-shortage" vacations.

Then they petitioned their principal to have the school heating plant converted "immediately to coal."

It is the only one in the city using gas for fuel.

CITY PLANTS SEE NO THREAT OF LAY-OFFS

Officials Report Coal Supply Adequate For Several Weeks.

Mansfield industrial officials patted themselves on the back today as they eyed coal piles, expected to prove adequate until the first of the year.

Empire Steel corporation, one of the city's largest industrial users of soft coal, has 60 days' supply on hand, W. H. Lake, vice president in charge of operations, said today. Lake added that "the company does not anticipate any lost time because of the coal strike."

The Tappan Stove company saw no shut down in the near future although it is largely dependent upon the steel supply. Mansfield Tire and Rubber company officials were of the opinion that the coal shutdown would end in "at least three weeks."

Meanwhile, the Pittsburgh council of the CIO-United Stone and Allied Products Workers passed a resolution condemning the government injunction.

They sent copies of the resolution to President Truman, Lewis and CIO President Philip Murray. The resolutions declared:

"We condemn the action taken by the government and demand that President Truman withdraw the injunction and proceed to meet the just demands of the miners."

The powerful CIO-United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers District Council 6, representing 60,000 workers, likewise joined in labor's protest against the injunction.

Thomas J. Fitzpatrick, district president, announced that the union indorsed a resolution stating:

"This (injunction) represents

SUIT CHARGES 'FREEZE OUT'

Charging M. H. Pryor, president of the Pryor Manufacturing company, with an attempt to "freeze him out," Edward J. Hultman, 341 North Townview circle, today asked the common pleas court to name a receiver for the firm to "conserve the assets."

Hultman, former general manager of the company and a stockholder, seeks a temporary restraining order and a permanent injunction to prevent Pryor from allegedly selling the "entire assets, business and good will" of the corporation to a new corporation formed by the present majority stockholders.

The proposed sale, Hultman contends, is "not a bona fide sale in good faith for the benefit of all shareholders, but is made for the sole purpose of 'freezing out' the plaintiff."

It is "an attempt to deprive (plaintiff) of prospective benefits which will accrue to him as a shareholder" and will be "injurious to the business and financial position of the corporation," Hultman charges.

Hultman, who said he resigned his position with the firm Sept. 3, declares in his petition that he holds 12 shares of the company's stock as well as a debenture bearing the face value of $3,000.

He claims the corporation has "great future possibilities, and that, with competent and honest management, (plaintiff's) shares will have a value many times the amount of his original investment."

Hultman's attorney is Adrian Medert of Cleveland.

Sagging Enlistment Program Presages New Draft In 1947

WASHINGTON— (UP) —Sagging recruiting figures made it increasingly probable today that the army will have to resume inductions after Jan. 1.

The war department announced that enlistments for the week of Nov. 8-14 dropped to 4,444, less than half the rate needed to sustain an all-volunteer army. This compared with 4,851 the previous week and a record 28,303 for the week ending Oct. 7.

The army has declared a draft holiday until Jan. 1. A high war department official said resumption of inductions after that time was a "virtual certainty" if the downward trend in enlistments continued.

He said one reason why fewer men are volunteering now is that they want to spend the holidays with their families. This is expected to bring a further drop in the next few weeks. Whether enlistments pick up after the holidays may determine whether the draft is resumed.

The army needs 40,000 men a month to meet its requirements. It now has signed up 1,050,712 volunteers since the end of the war but most long term enlistees joined the air forces, quartermaster and transportation corps, leaving the combatant arms with low strength levels.

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK—He probably knows what he is doing, but I like my heroes all in one piece, so it regrets me to observe General Eisenhower in a bow to the CIO at the big convention in Atlantic City the day after old Whitney, of the Brotherhood of Trainmen, attacked President Truman for having the audacity last spring to appeal to the trainmen, as citizens, to put their country above their union. Whitney's speech was a fair expression of the snarling and insensate effrontery of professional unioneers who regard their members as subjects and expect from them the dum loyalty of dogs to their masters.

Labor, Whitney said, meaning American citizens with rights, duties and personality, should beware of those, including the president of the United States, who, in a conflict of the national interest with the plans of the boss unioneers, would turn the members against "their leaders," meaning him and his kind. He referred to a historic incident last spring in which the president, acting for the entire nation in a crisis which might have caused God only knows what calamity found himself so bereft of power, to match his terrible responsibility, that he had to propose the humiliating expedient of drafting railroad workers into the army so as to put them under military orders to run the trains.

* * *

GENERAL EISENHOWER couldn't have done his job in Europe if he had had to ask his armies to do as he planned, instead of commanding them. But the president of the United States has no power to deal with men who have power to starve the country and wreck the government, and still the people expect him to do his job.

There was no necessity for Eisenhower to go to the CIO convention at all or, having gone, to belittle his own honesty and intelligence. If he is suffering from political ambitions it is so much the better that he made a spectacle of himself so early, though the demolition of a man who was will bring no pleasure to those who know him thus far only as a military hero for history.

Eisenhower told the CIO that American labor "rightly shares in the laurels won by American troops on the battlefield," which is the damnedest nonsense of the season and certainly violates his own information. American labor got enormous wages in the so-called war effort and loafed, malingered and squandered money on booze, entertainment and jewelry and the record of those very unions to which he addressed this idiotic flattery was so disgraceful that even men whom he tried here to woo must have been contemptuous. These unions struck over childish causes, such as the color of the ice-cream and the pop on the hokey-pokey wagons, they slowed down and stalled, they profiteered and racketeered and the rank and file, the workers, enjoyed the highest wages in history while the troops were winning their laurels on the battlefields.

And Eisenhower is one who knows it, too, for it was Eisenhower who had to send back word that he was short of shells and big tires, soon after Roosevelt, in the 1944 presidential campaign had boasted of plenty of everything when and where it was needed. He knew that the notorious "no strike" pledge of "American Labor," meaning the union bosses, was violated ten thousand times and that no more mercenary and selfish performance could be found in the history of all our wars, including the shameless profiteering of the contractors and manufacturers in the civil and Spanish-American wars.

Lippmann — Today and Tomorrow

AS WE APPROACH Germany it is most important to realize that while we need Russian Foreign Minister Molotov's consent to complete a European settlement, we do not need his consent to make great progress towards a settlement.

In the satellite treaties, excepting the Italian, nothing could be done unless he agreed to it first; the countries were exclusively under Soviet occupation. But in Germany the position is wholly different; the most important things can be done without obtaining his consent.

The three western zones contain about 46,000,000 Germans as against some 18,000,000 in the Soviet zone. In fact the disparity in man power is greater. About two-thirds of the German population in the Soviet zone are women. And of Germany's prewar heavy industries at least three-quarters are in the western zones.

This is enough to determine the shape of the German settlement that is to say, the constitutional structure of the new Germany, and the character of the German economics.

In agreement with Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg, and Denmark, we can reorganize enough of Germany, and therefore of Europe, so that in negotiating with Molotov we can offer him a choice. He can come in and participate in making the settlement general for all of Europe, or he can stay out, and devote himself to preventing the Poles, the Czechs, the Austrians, the Hungarians, and the Yugoslavs from sharing in the reconstruction of Europe.

In dealing with Germany, Molotov has no effective veto over what the western powers can do with the best part of Germany. He can only veto his own participation in the benefits of a German and a European reconstruction.

We have the means to take the initiative, and to produce a mountain of accomplished facts. Only if we make the unnecessary mistake of trying to get his consent before we act, we will become bogged down as we have been the last year.

It would, for example, be absurd to ask him whether Belgium and The Netherlands may participate in the negotiations. We should negotiate with them before we ask his consent. Then we can proceed to shape a settlement which, as it develops, offers him inducements to consent, and no attractive alternative if he refuses.

* * *

THE EXPLORATORY conversations which Gen. Clay has had with the Russians in Berlin show that they need the products of our zones more than we need the products of theirs.

If the Russians are to get the substantial reparations which they need so badly and to which they are unquestionably entitled, they must get them by agreement with the western Allies out of increased production in the western zones.

Therefore, in the bargaining out of which a German settlement can be developed, they will have to buy their participation if we have the foresight to see to it that we have something substantial to sell, and know clearly what price we can and should exact.

The economic unification of Germany, a central German government, a demilitarization treaty, are not things to be bought eagerly from Molotov. They are things to be sold to him reluctantly on carefully considered terms.

For if the terms are not such as to make secure the long-range vital interests of the western powers, the unification of Germany under a central government will be a monumental blunder. We shall have unified Germany for the Pan-Germans, who will inevitably make a deal with Moscow at the expense of Poland and against the west.

U. S. CULTURAL RELATIONS WILL GET ONCE-OVER

New Congress Ready to Give Program 'Close Scrutiny.'

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Republicans said today the state department's cultural relations program, long a congressional bone of contention, would receive "close scrutiny" from the new congress.

GOP members of the house appropriations committee told reporters they believed substantial savings could be made in the program, which congress fought over last summer before approving a $5,375,000 fund for operation in South America.

"We certainly will give it close scrutiny before approving any more funds," Rep. Wigglesworth (R.-Mass.) said. "I wouldn't want to say offhand that we will eliminate the program entirely."

Rep. Robert Jones (R.-Ohio) said he saw no reason for expansion of the program and did not believe funds should be granted for its operation in Europe as proposed previously by the state department.

"Certainly we should not spend money to have the state department compete with the regular news dissemination agencies in countries where existing news facilities are adequate," Jones said.

Although the state department has insisted that its cultural relations work — the dissemination abroad of news about the United States and the development of better cultural relations with other nations—does not overlap the functions of newspapers and news agencies, some members of congress contended otherwise.

Rep. Taber of New York, who will be chairman of the appropriations committee when Republicans organize the house, called for curtailment of all federal information programs.

As a result of these programs, Taber said, "the people don't get the news—they are deceived by propaganda."

Taber estimated that at least $100,000,000 could be saved if congress denied funds to the government public relations offices.

DISABLED VETS SEAT OFFICERS

LITTLE GARDENERS—Members of the newly-installed Girl Scout Troop 37, are shown as they made the final planting of their first project—a flower bed—on the Western Avenue school lawn last week. From the looks of those smiles the first project of the former Brownies is a big success. The entire troop of 24 ten-year-olds started out early this fall to raise money for their project by selling Christmas cards. Little by little they raised the money for tulip bulbs, peony plants, iris roots and chrysanthemums, which they hope will become a beauty spot on the school grounds next spring. 2 YOUTHS CITED AS TRESPASSERS

One 16-year-old youth was warned and released and another was held for further questioning today in Richland county juvenile court after they pleaded guilty to charges of trespassing on Baltimore and Ohio railroad property.

The boys were brought into court by a B. and O. railroad detective, who testified he saw one of the boys stoop over in the field and a cloud of smoke rise near him.

The appearance of the youths in court marked the second time in a little more than a month that juveniles have been brought before the court for trespassing on railroad property.

On Oct. 13 four teen-aged boys were put on probation to their parents for allegedly making rifle targets of Erie and B. and O. signal boxes.

Judge Stuart H. Cramer released the one youth to his mother today on condition that he would not associate with the other boy and that he would stay away from the railroad tracks. The other youth was held in the county detention home on suspicion of starting the fire in the field.

DEC. 31 DEADLINE FOR VET POLICIES

Mansfield area veterans whose national service life insurance has lapsed were advised by officials of the Mansfield sub-regional office, Veterans Administration, today that they have only until Dec. 31 to reinstate lapsed policies without undergoing a physical examination.

Beginning Jan. 1, 1947, a physical examination may be required of a veteran before his lapsed policy will be reinstated.

It was also emphasized that terminal leave bonds may be used as payments to reinstate lapsed policies. At present veterans desiring to use the bonds for this purpose must take them in person to the VA collections office in Columbus or Cleveland. Bonds cannot be received at the Mansfield sub-regional office which is not a collections office at present, G. D. Weidemaier, manager, said.

Baku Grotto to Honor First Officers at Birthday Party

Eighty-four years of work in Masonic organizations will be recognized Saturday night when Baku Grotto dedicates its 25th anniversary meeting to its first monarch and its first secretary.

Given places of honor will be Atty. William F. Voegele, the Grotto's first monarch who can count 30 years of service in Masonic groups, and Lawrence McIntire, the organization's first secretary who has some 54 years of Masonic service in his record.

Both men assisted in founding the Grotto a quarter of a century ago when they were appointed to their posts at the annual meeting of the Grand Lodge at Atlantic City, N. J.

The meeting, which is to get underway at 7:30 p. m., will also feature the initiation of a class of 35 beginners, Chester Brubach, secretary, said. Howard Wenning, past monarch, will preside at the initiation ritual. Floyd Lutz, monarch, will be in charge of the meeting.

A number of Masonic guests from Canton, Cleveland, and Sandusky are expected to attend the affair. A buffet lunch will be served after the meeting, it was said.

RAILWAY EXPRESS RATES INCREASED

Increased railway express rates, effective Dec. 13, were announced today by C. R. Deisler, general agent of the Mansfield Railway Express company.

New rates will represent an increase of 20 cents per 100 pounds on first class express and 15 cents per 100 pounds on second class. Increases also will be made in minimum and graduated charges for packages weighing less than 100 pounds, Deisler said. No increase is proposed on rates for daily newspapers, milk and related products.

"The new rates are based on a recent decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and it is hoped they will permit the Express Agency to meet the higher wagescales which have been in effect since January 1," Deisler said.

If You Cancel Park Meeting, Tell the City

Interested in helping the city save coal? Parks Supt. Frank Burton knows how you can just by telephoning the city building.

Burton reports that many times groups which schedule the use of a park pavilion for a meeting fail to show up. Result: coal used to bring the building up to a comfortable temperature is wasted.

Burton asks that groups which must cancel meetings at a pavilion notify the city soon enough so that coal—as well as caretaker's time—won't be wasted.

Mrs. Charles Quicksall, jr., injured in a traffic accident in Wyoming in October, was reported in "fair" condition at Mansfield General hospital today after undergoing an operation for a compound fracture of the left leg and pelvis.

Her husband, First Class Petty Officer Quicksall, also injured in the mishap, will be removed from General hospital to the naval hospital at Great Lakes. Mrs. Quicksall is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Metz, South Boulevards, and Quicksall is the son of Mrs. Elmer Smith, Bahl avenue.

Charles B. Crouch, former Mansfielder, will be installed as worshipful master of Snow Lodge, No. 193, F. and A. M. of the Cincinnati district on Dec. 7.

Crouch, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Crouch, Mansfield, U. S. Route 306, is superintendent of schools in Harrison, suburb of Cincinnati. During his residence in Mansfield he was affiliated with the city recreational program in 1928 and 1929.

Up and Down The Street

KNOW THEIR FOX—

Sheriff's deputies these days are looking a bit more closely at the "fox paws" which are submitted to them for the $3-per-fox bounty the county pays. One young hunter presented the four feet of an animal he claimed was a fox, but which deputies decided was a raccoon. Deputies warn that such acts potentially are fraud. Meanwhile, county commissioners today had appropriated $150 more to the bounty fund which, until they had acted, had dwindled to only $69. Latest to claim the bounty are C. B. Cates, Bellville, R. D. 2, who turned in the paws of two red foxes, and Harry Allen jr., Butler, R. D. 1, who killed one grey fox.

REFORMATORY CONDITIONS GIVEN REVIEW

Welfare and Probation Officials Attend Four-Hour 'Eye-Opener.'

A four-hour "eye opener" of existing conditions at Mansfield reformatory was staged here yesterday as state welfare officials and probation officers called in press representatives to serve as an advisory committee to the Ohio Probation and Parole association. The meeting was held in the reformatory chapel.

As the result of the initial session, the new group agreed to support a five-point program to be brought before the next general assembly. The program as set up includes:

1. Establishment of a receiving depot for incoming prisoners.
2. Proper classification of prisoners as to mental and psychological status for routing to proper institutions.
3. Appropriation of additional state funds for the establishment of an institution for the retention of the psychopathic, homosexual, defective delinquent and epileptic.
4. Higher salaries for prison guards to compete with industrial wages.
5. A maximum of a 50 parolee load for each probation officer to afford better probation period supervision.

* * *

Print Anything.

Set into motion by Judge J. H. Lamneck of New Philadelphia, chairman of the meeting, who told newspaper representatives they were "free to print anything you see or hear," the most convincing evidence on the lack of segregation at the reformatory was given by Dr. J. V. Horst, institution physician.

"Out of 1,871 inmates here, 33 per cent are of normal intelligence," Dr. Horst said, adding statistics on other classifications.

Dullard, 262 inmates, 14 per cent; homosexuals, 150 inmates, eight per cent; psychopathic personality, 393 inmates, 21 per cent; psychopathic delinquent, 225 inmates, 12 per cent; mental defective, 187 inmates, 10 per cent; unexhibited borderline-insane, nine inmates, one-half per cent; and unclassified, 48 inmates, 2½ per cent. The head physician said that this ratio hadn't varied more than three per cent since 1939.

* * *

Inmates Examined.

Twelve inmates, representing the first six classifications were brought before the 16-member committee for brief examinations.

These varied types, according to Dr. Horst, with the exception of the homosexuals, are allowed to mingle unsegregated.

Taking the floor as one of the speakers on the program, Arthur L. Glattke, reformatory superintendent, declared:

"If we're going to meet the challenge here, we must ask for release from the conditions we have today. I recommend that this committee seek a receiving depot for prisoners and that placement be made correctly.

"At the present time, this reformatory manufactures over a half million dollars worth of shoes, clothing, metal beds, furniture and printing," Glattke continued. "Our agriculture products are worth more than $185,000 a year. Sooner or later the state must decide if we're in business or if we're going to try to build and treat character."

Short 34 Guards.

Glattke said that the present shortage of 34 guards at the institution was due to the competition from local industries that pay higher wages. He added that the institution employed only two full time physicians and surgeons. One dentist and one optician are on part-time basis.

Top salary for reformatory guards is $165. The starting wage is $143. Guards are classified in "A," "B," and "C" groups, with "A" guards receiving top salaries, "C" guards the starting wage and "B" guards, $154 a month. All guards must furnish their own uniforms. Working "what amounts to a nine-hour day," the guards work alternate weekends, Glattke said.

State's Penny Pinching.

Speaking on the parole system, Charles L. Sherwood, chairman of the Ohio Pardon and Parole commission, who monthly reviews both institutional and honor camp cases at the reformatory said:

"I get heartsick over the fellows who shouldn't be here a day, or out in society either, because they're pure and simple institutional cases.

"I'm fed up on seeing the state build up this place as an agriculture or manufacturing project," the chairman continued. "We've got to face the fact that the state's been niggardly and penny-pinching for the past 25 years."

A 200-pound senior, Beard stood out on defense for the Tygers during the 1946 football season. Other new officers are: Dave Bools, vice president; Bruno Mollica, treasurer; Allen Sowash, secretary and Ross Frisbee, sergeant at arms. Grid coach Paul Snyder is the club supervisor.

Beard, Ollie Cline, Bob Rondy and Dick Gross served on a committee which drew up a new constitution for the organization.

BOXERS READY FOR ALL-STAR BIFF PROGRAM

Four Mansfield Battlers Scheduled To Appear.

Professional fighters, who will appear on the Veterans of Foreign Wars first annual Christmas charity show tomorrow night at the Armory, concluded heavy workouts today.

Four Mansfield participants tapered off at the Park Avenue News gymnasium while the other battlers ended drills in their respective cities. Boxers are scheduled to weigh in and get their physical exams tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Paul Carbetta, Dick Alexander and Joe Brown are Mansfielders slated for main-go activities while Gale Frye will go in a four-round prelim. The first trio have been booked in eight round battles.

Carbetta, who tips the scales at 122, will be after the 20th victory of his professional career. He has dropped three decisions. Paul Chaney, Delaware featherweight, is slated to furnish the opposition for Oomph Paul.

Alexander mixes with Lefty Lou Williams of Dayton and Brown tangles with tough Joe Ceryak, Cleveland. Alexander, who has been looking better each time out, gets his toughest assignment in Williams. Dick has won seven in a row, including six in the Mansfield ring.

Brown plans to give his kayo punch quite a workout against Ceryak. The 172 pounder, who likes to battle the big boys in the heavyweight ranks, has knocked out his last two opponents.

Frye goes against Johnny Ross of Massillon. Johnny Bryant, Massillon, collides with Woody Lowden, Columbus, in a six-rounder. Paperweights Crackerjack Tibbs and Deadpan Sammy Adams complete the 37-round card with a three-round opener.

Tickets can be purchased at East Side Nite club, Park Avenue News, Stone's Grill, City News, VFW Post, Saprano's Cigar store and Dick Jones club. General admission seats can be purchased at the Armory tomorrow evening.

A portion of the proceeds will go to the VFW Children's home in Eaton Rapids, Mich. Battling begins at 8:15.

Tommy James Buck Captain

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Tommy James, red-haired Massillon halfback, was Ohio State's new 1947 football captain today.

Announcement of James' election was made last night at the annual appreciation banquet for the gridders.

At the same event, Fullback Joe Whisler received an award as the first-year man making the outstanding contribution to the team.

Coach Paul Bixler sounded the banquet keynote when he stamped the just completed season as "rough" but added that he expected making 1947 plans immediately.

Warren Amling, 1946 captain and all-American tackle, announced the election of James to head the team next year.

Selection of Tommy was not unexpected as he was the only junior on this year's first team. He was the only Buck backfield man to start every game.

Varsity letters were awarded to 38 men. Included were: Billy Doolittle and Dave Templeton, ex-Mansfield high school stars.

Black Knights Still Nation's No. 1 Eleven

NEW YORK — (AP) — Army comes up to the Navy game in Philadelphia Saturday still chosen by voters in the Associated Press' weekly football poll as the nation's No. 1 team.

Thus the Black Knights of the Hudson offer Tom Hamilton's Middies one more psychological advantage in the all-important service classic. Added to the incentive of salvaging a game from a so-far disastrous season by blasting the three-year victory record of the Cadets, the Navy has the chance to topple Earl Blaik's ment from first place in the nation's rankings.

Should the Middies accomplish the seemingly impossible by scoring an upset at Franklin Field, they probably would unseat Army from the position it has held every week but one since this season's poll started. Only other holder of the top spot this year has been illstarred Texas, now down to No. 20.

The Irish of Notre Dame have been pushing the Cadets for the first-place perch all season and almost got to the top in this week's ballotting among sports writers.

Celebrate 'Galion Night' at Armory

Second of a series of special nights is scheduled for the Mansfield Armory Thursday when Cliff Olsen, Duluth, Minn., and John Cretoria, Canton, collide in the wrestling headliner.

This week's grunt and groan exhibition is being sponsored by the Galion Inquirer while the Shelby Daily Globe sponsored last week's program. Galion city officials will be guests at the mat show.

Olsen and Cretoria lock horns in the 60-minute, two-of-three falls main event while George Strickland, Columbus, and Bob Blake, Cincinnati, tangle in the opener at 8:30.

Johnny Holota Drops

Johnny Holota, fast-skating Cleveland Barons forward, dropped to second place in American Hockey league scoring today with 15 goals and 11 assists for 26 points.

All's Well In Flatbush Today, Lippy Leo Inks 1947 Contract

NEW YORK —(UP)— Manager Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers today was renamed to direct the team for the 1947 season under a one-year contract which was offered by General Manager Branch Rickey.

No salary terms were stipulated but Rickey said that it was "a different contract." He offered no explanation as to how it differed from other previous contracts which Durocher has held since Rickey took over the club in 1943.

Durocher, during the past two seasons, has operated under a bonus contract in which he was paid a straight salary. Last season he received approximately $45,000 with bonuses for Dodger home attendance above the 500,000 mark which brought his earnings to an estimated $65,000.

It was believed that Rickey had decided to give Durocher a straight contract with no bonus clause for attendance for the forthcoming season, and in return that the Dodger manager curtail some of his outside activities.

Durocher has made a considerable amount of money above his regular salary in other enterprises, mainly as a radio entertainer.

Arrange Slate For Cage Loop

Schedule for the first week's play was drawn up at a meeting of the City A basketball league at Yunckers last night.

Thirteen teams are entered in the competition and games will be played each Monday and Wednesday night on the Mansfield Senior high school court beginning at 7 p. m.

Opening week's schedule follows: Monday, American Legion Post 72 vs DAV, Smokehouse vs. McCarrick's Gulf Station and Westinghouse vs. AVC; Wednesday, Richland Beverage vs. Barnes Manufacturing, Yunckers vs. Urschel Insurance and Komito's vs. Ohio Sport Center. Mansfield Tire drew a bye for the first week.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

BALTIMORE—Curtis (Hatchetman) Sheppard, 193½, Philadelphia, knocked out Clarence Brown 201, Chicago, (2).

CHICAGO—Dave Clark, 158, Cincinnati, outpointed Casey Jones, 162, New York (8).

OMAHA—Arturo Godoy, 199½, Chile, outpointed Tex Boddie, 192, Omaha (10).

WASHINGTON—Holman Williams, 161, Chicago, outpointed Deacon Johnny Brown, 166, Baltimore (10).

Shelby Makes '47 Cage Debut

SHELBY — Coach Charles Williams' third Shelby Whippet cage quintet will make its 1946-47 debut on the hardwood tonight at 8 when Shelby entertains Fostoria high school in a non-league game.

Williams, who graduated from Otterbein college, is starting his third year as head of the basketball coaching staff at Shelby high school.

Among the prospects for the starting lineup are David Connelly, only starter back from last year's team which won 10 out of 17 games; Dick Seitz and Bill Lucas, also lettermen; Bill Thompson, Jake Gates, Stan Jones, Bill Keiser, Stan Cronnenwett, Richard Becker and Jim Reed.

The first of a series of "skull" practices for the Whippet squad open to the public was held Monday night at the Shelby gymnasium. Coach Williams introduced the players and the coaching staff.

Tygers Finish Tenth In High School Poll

By JOHN BARRINGTON

COLUMBUS—(INS)—The Indians of Toledo Waite were 1946 Ohio high school football champions today, at least to the satisfaction of sports writers who gave Waite a substantial majority in the final International News Service poll of the year.

Waite won the honor despite one defeat in ten starts, an 8-to-6 upset by Toledo Libbey. Jack Mollenkopf's Indians have one more game to play, a Thanksgiving encounter with hometown rival Scott.

It was the second year in a row that Waite has generally been conceded the mythical state title. Last season, Waite went undefeated until its last game when it was tied by Canton Lincoln.

For the second straight season, too, runner-up rating went to Cleveland Cathedral Latin. Herb Elsele's Lions, ranked on top for the first seven weeks of the year, wound up with a 35-to-6 victory Saturday over Holy Name, which had tied the Lions earlier.

It was the ninth 1946 Latin victory against one deadlock and the 34th successive game that the Lions have been unbeaten.

Undefeated Lima Central, tied with Canton McKinley for third place last week, was left all alone in that spot following the Bulldogs' tie with Massillon.

McKinley was dropped to sixth place in the final standings with its record of eight wins, a defeat and two ties, shoving in ahead of the Bulldogs were two strong unbeaten clubs.

1. Toledo Waite (9-1-9).
2. Cleveland Cathedral Latin (9-0-1)
3. Lima Central (10-0-0).
4. Toledo Libbey (9-0-1).
5. Youngstown Woodrow Wilson (9-0-0).
6. Canton McKinley (8-1-2).
7. Cincinnati Purcel (10-0-0).
8. Steubenville Central Catholic (9-0-1).
9. Massillon (6-2-2).
10. MANSFIELD (7-1-2).

Honorable mention (not in order of voting rank); Barberton, Campbell, Cleveland Lincoln, Akron Garfield, Upper Arlington, Columbus Linden McKinley, Cushocton, Zanesville, Dayton Chaminade, Hamilton, Cincinnati St. Xavier, Alliance.

Toledo Libbey, tied once in ten starts, lodged in fourth place.

Youngstown Woodrow Wilson, idle last week after breezing to nine straight wins and a city championship, was voted into fifth place.

Massillon and Mansfield reversed their position of a week earlier. Massillon's six-all tie with McKinley, while bumping the Bulldogs two notches downward, served to boost the Tigers one position.

Idle Mansfield thus was given tenth place for its seven victories, one loss and two ties.

Economically, your community is far bigger than its boundary lines. Your purchasing power reaches out far beyond your town line and brings in the food, clothing, manufactured articles, and other materials you need. How big is your town?—as big as the area where its economic influence is felt!

STRIPED CHIPMUNK'S INDEPENDENCE

Striped Chipmunk is small but independent He asks no favors of any one and he seldom gets any "If you don't look out for yourself no one else will look out for you," says he, and lives accordingly. And he lives very well, very well indeed.

In the fall when nuts and seeds are ripe Striped Chipmunk is a very busy small person. Being a member of the Squirrel family, that is natural and to be expected. All of the Squirrel folk are thrifty. Thrift is born in them. Striped Chipmunk is no exception When there is work to be done, as there always is in harvest time, you never find him idle. He is just about the busiest person anywhere around.

"You make me tired," said Peter Rabbit as Striped Chipmunk came running along on the old stone-wall beside which Peter was sitting.

Striped Chipmunk stopped abruptly. "Did you say something?" he demanded.

"I said you make me tired. Just watching you race back and forth makes my legs ache," said Peter.

"That's too bad. I've always heard that lazy bones are full of aches," retorted the lively small person, and was off before Peter could find his tongue for a reply In a few minutes he was back Peter didn't try to stop him, knowing that it would be useless for Striped Chipmunk couldn't answer questions if he wanted to. He looked as if he had the mumps Yes sir, that is just how he looked That was because both pockets were packed so full that they were stretched all that they could be, and you know those pockets are in his cheeks. Held tight in his teeth was a nut. He couldn't speak if he wanted to without putting down his load, and that is the last thing in the world he would think of doing until he had it safely home.

Peter was ready for him on his return. "Why do you do it?" cried Peter

Striped Chipmunk stopped abruptly. "Why do I do what?" he wanted to know.

"Why do you work so hard when you don't need to?" asked Peter.

"Who says I don't need to?" demanded Striped Chipmunk

"You sleep through the winter, don't you?" asked Peter

"Most of the time," admitted Striped Chipmunk

"You can't eat while you are asleep," said Peter

"Of course I can't What of it?" replied his small neighbor.

"Then you don't need to store away a lot of food. It seems to me you are doing a lot of hard work for nothing," said Peter.

"Listen, Peter Rabbit. I'm independent and I mean to stay so and I'm willing to work to make sure I do," retorted Striped Chipmunk. He spoke sharply.

"I'm independent, too, and I don't have to work," said Peter.

"No, you're not. Lazy folk never are. In winter you depend on luck and the weather for comfort and enough to eat. Thrift is part of true independence. I never have gone hungry in my life No, sir, I never have If I wake up in the winter and I do now and then, I always have food at hand If winter lasts extra long and I am awake at my usual time I don't go hungry as so many others I don't even have to poke my nose outside I keep warm and comfortable and have plenty to eat I don't have to go out in the cold [illegible] out hunting for food because I am hungry and so run the risk of being caught by some one else who is hungry I can do just what I please, and all because I am willing to work now That is independence," Peter Rabbit," declared Striped Chipmunk and was off to fill his pockets again.

"I wonder," muttered Peter as he watched Striped Chipmunk lookings if he had the mumps.

[illegible] you wonder?" asked Sammy Jay, who happened to be near and overheard him

"I wonder if independence is worth all that hard work," replied Peter

"The answer is yes," said Sammy Jay, who is himself somewhat thrifty.

PLAN MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

BARBERTON — (AP) — Plans were underway today for establishment of a children's clinic in the city's proposed new Citizens hospital as a memorial to the late C. W. Sieberling, pioneer in the rubber industry.

CHECKS. COLONY—Ernest Goon, Shelby-Ontario mad, bee inspector for the western and southern parts of Richland county, inspects a colony of Three-banded Italian bees in his home apiary. "Let the bees have plenty of honey to carry them through the winter. It's your best insurance of a strong colony next spring," is the inspector's advice to beekeepers.

County's Honey Production Goes Well Over 100-Ton Mark

By ART ANDERSON

Richland county apiarists are tucking their bee colonies in for the winter after gathering their honey crop.

The honey harvest this fall is spotty, some sections of the county reporting production raging up to 40 pounds per colony while others had scarcely enough to feed the bees.

In all, however, the county's bees made more than 100 tons of honey during the year, inspectors estimate.

Ernest Goon, who inspects apiaries in the western part of the county says that a large majority of the colonies that he inspects are located on the outskirts of Mansfield and the beekeepers aren't farmers at all, but city dwellers.

Goon says that he inspected 4,200 colonies last summer in his half of the county.

* * *

Production Up

The production looks a little better than last year, he said. He estimated production at close to 40 pounds per colony in the western half of the county.

In the county last year 6,800 colonies of bees produced an estimated average of 36 pounds of honey per colony, Goon said.

Over in the eastern half of the county, the inspector, Floyd Stumph, found most of the production of the colonies he inspected this summer to be way down.

"Many of the colonies just about held their own," Stumph said, adding that he found the bees in good shape to go into the winter but that many of them didn't make much surplus honey.

He estimated that he had examined 2,580 colonies this summer.

* * *

Don't Rob Bees.

Both inspectors reported that they found less foul brood than last year, and both cautioned apiarists not to rob their bees too close this winter.

Goon advised that about 20 pounds of honey be stored for each colony in addition to what the colony has in the hive box.

The honey isn't wasted if the bees don't use it during the winter, he explained.

Meanwhile, the U. S. department of agriculture is reporting that the total estimated U. S. honey production this year will amount to 209,058,000 pounds.

With an estimated 5,878,000 colonies of bees in the country this amounts to approximately 36.4 pounds per colony.

The agriculture department says that the production for the nation this year is about 10 per cent under last year.

POPE CALLS ON YOUTH TO LEAD

VATICAN CITY —(AP)— Declaring that "this is America's hour", Pope Pius XII in a broadcast Sunday urged American youth to "carry the torch of faith full-flaming to the ends of the earth."

The Pontiff, commemorating the martyrdom of Jesuit Missionary Isaac Jogues and two companions killed 300 years ago by American Indians, told his radio audience in the United States:

"The martyr's message rings out across your blessed country, so providentially spared the horrors and destruction of other lands. From coast to coast, from the gulf to the northern frontier, it is heard. Let men pause and hearken to its appeal. It is America's hour. The missions await the response."

The pope's address, delivered in English, was directed primarily to a New York City meeting, attended by Francis Cardinal Spellman, following a mass celebrated in St. Patrick's Cathedral to observe the anniversary of the martyrdom.

The missionaries met death near Auriesville, N. Y., now the site of a shrine erected in their memory.

Pope Pius declared that the "message of missionary zeal" which the trio left behind "is louder and more insistent at this hour when war and war's aftermath have decimated so many ranks of missionaries and clogged so many sources of mission help."

"May the youth, that American youth always so ready and eager to throw themselves into every worthy and eager venture, for whom obstacles are but a challenge to their courage, may they seize the torch of faith, lighted by you in the wilderness," the Pontiff said.

City to Mark Pearl Harbor Day Sunday

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn today called on Mansfield residents to observe next Sunday as Disabled American Veterans day in connection with the fifth anniversary of Pearl Harbor—the first Sunday in December.

Charles Prosser, commander of Mansfield Chapter No. 21, DAV, said appropriate ceremonies are being planned by the local chapter for observance of DAV day.

"Disabled war veterans cannot help but remember Pearl Harbor as the beginning of another crop of the human aftermath of America's wars," he said.

"Let us not forget the lesson of Pearl Harbor—that preparedness for war is the best guarantee of continued peace."

More than 1,300 DAV chapters throughout the country will observe the special day, Prosser said. Approximately 150 veterans belong to the Mansfield chapter.

Barclay On Bridge

BOXING FANS who saw the first Tunney-Dempsey fight remember how Gene hit Jack with a tremendous wallop right at the outset. They also recall what an influence that punch had on all the rest of the fight. Identical tactics are called for in some bridge situations, especially when you hold a powerhouse hand over the opponent's opening bid. Unless you hit hard with as strong a bid as your holding justifies, you may be blocked out of the most profitable contract.

Those are only four of the many variations in bidding that came at the ten tables of a duplicate game. In the first two instances, North would have liked to show his hearts, but could not unless he was willing to do so at the level of five and thus possibly shove his partner into a small slam if diamonds were preferred. So the first North tried 5-Diamonds, which got set, with the loss of one trick in clubs and two in trumps because he could never get in the South hand to finesse. The second made a meek double of the 4-Spades and set it just one trick.

The third North never did show either of his suits, so could only double the 4-Spads for a one-trick set.

North at Table was the only one that managed to show his true strength, by cubidding both of the opponents' suits. He said after the hand that if West had bid 4-Spades instead of three, he would have cue-bidden them at five, taking a chance on whichever red suit South preferred. Of course the heart slam was made.

Plants Close Down.

The National Tube company at McKeesport furloughed 2,500 employes when one seamless tube plant and two blast furnaces were shut down. Production was reduced 50 per cent of normal.

The coal and coke shortage forced the Shenango Furnace company to bank two of its furnaces at Sharpsville, Pa. An estimated 1,000 workers were laid off.

Republic Steel in the Cleveland area has dropped 10,000 workers from the payrolls. Sharon Steel at Lowellville, O., and Farrell, Pa., furloughed another 10,000. The Hanna Furnace company at Buffalo cut its operations 50 per cent, idling several thousand workers. Youngstown Sheet and Tube has 7,000 off the payrolls and more slated to go.

The large coal carrying railroads have an estimated 25,000 workers idle. R. C. Parsons, general manager of the Louisville and Nashville railroad at Louisville, said 1,000 men have been laid off. Illinois Central railroad dropped 1,400 at Paducah, Ky. In the Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois coal fields thousands of other railroaders were sent home.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills. —Adv.

Communists Issue Directives, But Party Cannot Pass Laws

(Second of a series of five articles on the elementary organization of Russian life.)

* * *

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW —(AP)— Although the Communist party in Russia, with roughly 6,000,000 members, has, to put it mildly, enormous influence, it does not and cannot govern or assume any authority over the laws or citizens of the Soviet union.

It can pass no laws as such, nor can it repeal them. It can issue no orders of conscription, declare no wars, make no pacts or agreements with other countries, and issue no orders to the police. It is not the government of the U.S.S.R.

But large numbers of Soviet people in the government are members of the party. If the Communist party does not govern, then what does it do?

It gives directives to the government. There has been no occasion I know of when the government has gone against what the party thinks is good for the U.S.S.R. and its people. The party prides itself on being of the masses and hence close to their wants and needs.

If you ask a party member why there is only one party in Russia, he probably will tell you that political parties are an expression of class interests and that the Russian people have a class interest—that of building Socialism; hence, he argues, there is no reason for another party.

To get into the Communist party one has to appear as an applicant, with the recommendation of several party members, the number required varying. The application is studied carefully, along with the applicant's character, including such questions as to whether he is motivated by self-interest.

The candidate must wait for a year before he is accepted—if he is accepted—although during the war this was shortened for persons who had especially distinguished themselves on the field of battle.

Today the emphasis is on bringing younger blood into the party, and the applicants must live a spotless life of relative simplicity and must study, study, study.

Members of the party I know—and I know hundreds of them—keep very long hours, work tirelessly and uncomplainingly and are great patriots. They are interested in politics and well informed in international events. They know Russia and Russian literature, arts and culture.

Above all, party members know what they want and how to get it. They are loyal to the party and literally live and think in the interests of the party and country.

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, November 27.

ALTHOUGH there are signs of encouragement for important objectives, with an expansive and glowing enthusiasm, yet there are as well portents of loss, or regrets for curious entanglements of a sinister nature. Shun all forms of subtlety and craft, and collusion. Keep all affairs open and above board. With good logic and wariness, peculiar situations or associations may be rendered profitable and pleasant as well. There may be happy and active social and family affairs. Seek escape from pitfalls in these, but with discretion.

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy a year of fair progress, with advancement, preferment and the assistance of those in important places. Also friendship and social pleasures are likely to turn financial, professional or business affairs into lucrative channels enhancing personal popularity and prestige. The combination of business and pleasure will be worthwhile, perhaps assume romantic or curious adventures. Seek such with tact and good grace.

A child born on this day will possess many social graces and be incited to gracious and worthy experiences in life.

John L. Lewis Vs. American People

TODAY is an appropriate time for re-dedication of the American people to the task of assuring that "government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

One man—John L. Lewis—stands as the challenger of that fundamental principle of democracy and a trial of the issue is to be held in Washington tomorrow.

The charge against Lewis is that he is in contempt of court for cancellation of a coal miners' contract with the government, thus causing the walk-out of 400,000 soft coal miners and disruption of the nation's industrial, transportation and commercial operations.

It will be well, at this pint, for every American to ponder the words of Senator Byrd, of Virginia, touching on the present situation:

"Any further appeasement of John L. Lewis will have disastrous results. If one man can stagnate the activities of 142,000,000 and bring distress and suffering to the homes in our land, then our democracy is a hollow sham."

Under ordinary circumstances the course would be clear—just as Lewis' contemptuous disregard of a court order is clear. He would be placed in jail as a penalty for his arrogance.

But it appears that the great United States government hesitates to do this. The powerful CIO and AFL unions have endorsed Lewis' course, and there is fear that jailing him would bring on a general "sympathy" strike which would temporarily paralyze the entire country and result in untold suffering to millions of people.

Some contend that this is the time for a "showdown" between the penalized majority and organized minorities. Others believe it would be better to placate Lewis and gain immediate resumption of coal production—so that lives, health and safety will not be long endangered.

Tomorrow's proceedings in Washington may offer a key to solution of what has developed into an intolerable situation.

Progress In Rural Electrification

A TOTAL of 1,070,000 residential and farm customers were added to lines of the electric power industry in the United States during the first eight months of 1946, despite the housing shortage and difficulties encountered in securing poles, wire and other needed equipment, the Edison Electric Institute has announced.

Data covering the twelvemonth period following V-J day shows that 1,668,000 new customers of all classes were added to power lines, and 1,364,00 of these were residential and farm users. This phenomenal increase in new customers, the announcement continues, "has been amazing to utility executives and agreeably distorted the normal long-term pattern of customer growth."

It is particularly significant that most of the new users have been added to lines in rural areas. These are the areas where increased use of power results in the greatest improvement in the standard of living.

And the power industry is now engaged in a $300,000,000 expansion program which is designed to virtually complete rural electrification nationally by the end of 1948. According to utility spokesmen, this goal will be reached on schedule unless it is delayed by circumstances beyond the industry's control, such as inability to obtain needed equipment.

St. Paul Teachers Out On Strike'

WHILE proponents of a school teachers' union have always contended that there was no danger of a strike that would close city schools, that very thing has happened in St. Paul, Minn., where striking teachers were on picket duty yesterday to "explain" to children why there would be no school.

A similar situation was narrowly averted in the adjacent city of Minneapolis, where a last minute agreement on a wage boost resulted in schools being kept open yesterday.

These teachers' unions are affiliates of the A. F. of L. and their strike action serves to emphasize the extent to which even professional services can be withdrawn from a community in an effort to enforce organization demands.

It appears that the people of both Minneapolis and St. Paul have been extending themselves in trying to provide more money for the operation of schools. A strike by teachers seems a poor way of showing appreciation of the sacrifices that many taxpayers must make to meet the high cost of maintaining a free educational system.

Overseas Air Travel Rates Reduced

RIGHT in the midst of worries over increasing prices, comes glad tidings that the cost of overseas air travel has been quite considerably reduced and that you can now go from New York to London for $35, or $586.70 for the round trip. Of course if you want to go to Berlin, Copenhagen, Oslo or Stockholm it will cost you slightly more—$730.70 for the round trip to Stockholm, for instance.

It is the American Overseas Airlines that announces the reduction in rates, with assurance that "reservations, ticketing and clearances are all taken care of at your departure point in the United States"—which will eventually be Mansfield, if everything goes well

Anyhow, it's nice to know that some folks will be interested in such things, and—who knows—maybe this is just the rate reduction that some readers have been waiting for.

Civilization Before the Incas

ANCIENT Peruvian civilization did not begin with the Incas.

This fact, known to archaeologists, has just been confirmed by discovery of a priest's tomb belonging to the Incas' predecessors, the Mochicas. They were at their height about A.D. 1000, and achieved a rather high standard in art. In the tomb was a string of beads with perforations so small that a hair could not pass through them, yet they were evidently meant to be strung.

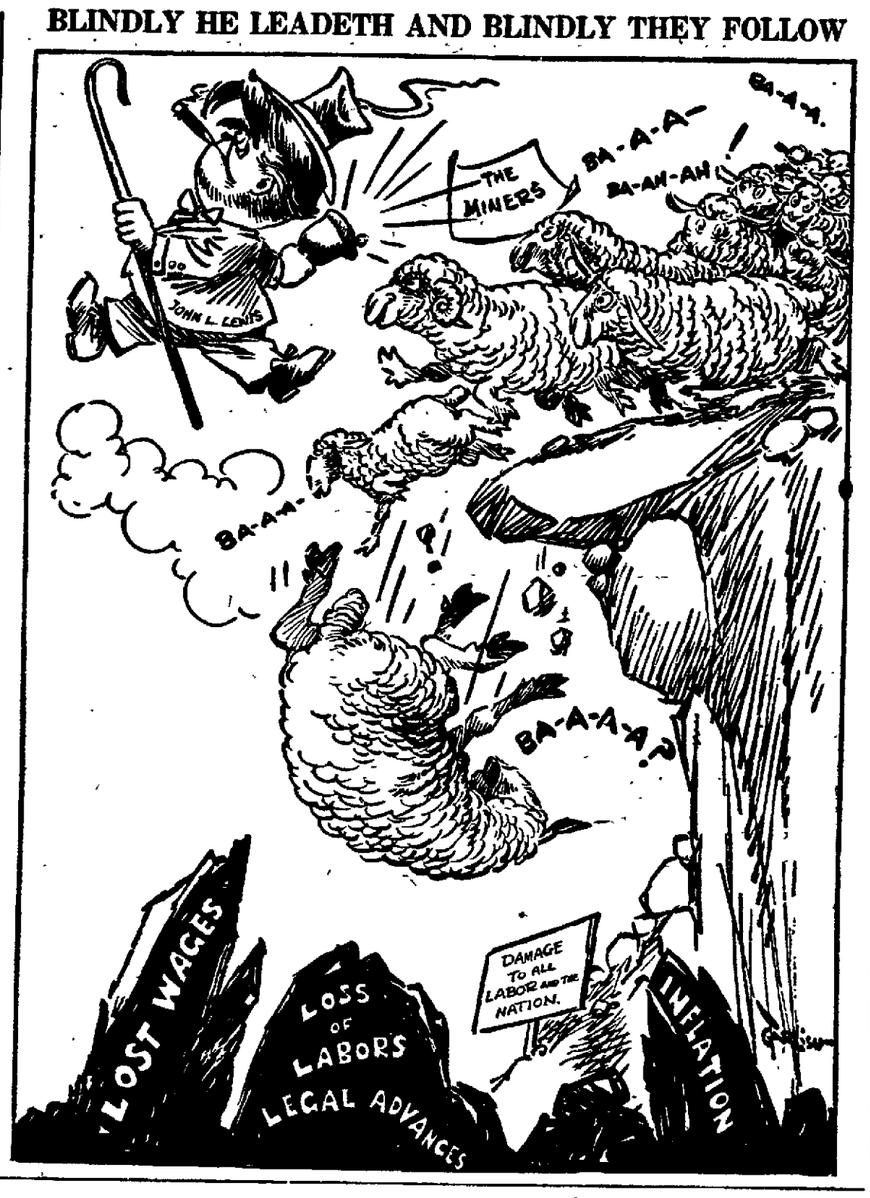
Where did the Mochicas get their civilization? Was it self-developed, or did it go back in turn to some earlier race? Students of early South American history will have further investigating to do before they answer that question.

Pink hats and coats without lapels are said to be among style trends in men's wear—and you can just bet that sort of outfit will appeal to some people.

It appears that the PAC has decided to intensify its educational activity—and ability to read and write makes a nice starting place.

Claude Callan suggests: "You can have everything you want—provided you will only manage to want a great deal less."

BLINDLY HE LEADETH AND BLINDLY THEY FOLLOW



Competing Fuels May Soon Put Coal Industry Out of Business

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—One thing the striking miners don't realize is that they are working for an industry which will soon be as out of date as the old stern-wheeler of Mark Twain's Mississippi river days. Unfortunately, what they especially don't seem to realize is that their present strike is hastening the end of the coal industry.

A brief news item from the little town of Louisville, N. Y., tells part of the story. Its 150 families have converted to oil, making it the first completely oil-heated town in the USA.

Others are bound to follow. Some industries had started converting to oil even before the strike. Natural gas piped east will further cut down coal consumption—especially as coal becomes more expensive and more uncertain.

However, this only tells part of the story. The rest of the story began on Aug. 5, 1945, when a bomb was dropped on Hiroshima. Scientists have been working ever since on the problem of harnessing atomic energy. Already Poland is constructing an atomic energy power plant. In the United States the first atomic power plants should be completed in two years.

Naturally the coal, steel and oil interests are not anxious to encourage this. Nor are the big power companies, whose water power installations would be scrapped. These incidentally are the same interests, which have blocked the use of natural gas in the big inch and little inch pipelines.

Science, however, can be retarded, but not stopped. And when atomic energy is used on a wide scale, scientists estimate it will be much cheaper than coal or oil. When that happens, coal mining will be just as obsolete as the journeymen wagon builders of 1800.

And unfortunately for the coal miners, the more uncertain they make the supply of coal, the more they spur the development of atomic energy.

Taber's "Bribery" Charge.

Washington is no town for the naive but well meaning, as Assistant Secretary of State Bill Benton learned the other day.

Benton, recently retired as chairman of the board of Encyclopedia Britannica and now in charge of the state department's good-will program, has been having his troubles with congress.

Some of the more backwoods congressmen can't understand why it is important to sell America to the rest of the world, especially if it costs money.

They haven't learned that selling peace through friendship is lots cheaper than fighting wars with battleships.

One such is bull-voiced Congressman John Taber of New York, soon to become chairman of the house appropriations committee, which will give him a death grip on Benton's appropriation. Recently Benton invited Taber to dinner and explained the state department's cultural relations program to him. The next day Benton told friends he had completely won over Taber's support.

Shortly thereafter, however, Acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson got a withering phone call from the New York congressman.

"What is that fellow Benton trying to do—sending me the Encyclopedia Britannica?" Taber thundered. "Is he trying to bribe me with a set of books, just before his appropriation comes up before my committee?

"What I want to know," continued Taber, "is were these books sent me with the approval of the state department?"

Acheson, having no prior knowledge of the incident, said he couldn't answer. What had happened was that Benton, as former chairman of the Encyclopedia Britannica company, had sent presents of the books to several congressmen, including Taber. The others took it, as it was meant, as a friendly gesture. But not Mr Taber. He is now expected to knife the state department's entire appropriation for good will abroad.

KKK Honors Dragon.

Down in Georgia it is considered significant that red-gallused Gene Talmadge, the minority-elected new governor, was not present to help present an $1,800 automobile to Ku Klux Klan grand dragon, Dr. Samuel Green. Instead, Gene's son, Herman, did the honors.

Herman made a powerful, armwaving speech, just like the "old man," in which he damned "Jews, Catholics and niggers" and in which he also eulogized Dr. Green. Herman said he had known the grand dragon's "constructive work" for many years, and he considered him "a splendid American of spotless character." The opposition, Herman said, had imported detectives to comb Green's record but never had been able to find anything bad about him.

After klansman Cliff Vittur presented the car as a "surprise" to the Grand Dragon, the latter arose and accepted the gift.

First he took out of his pocket a tiny toy automobile which he placed on the table.

"When I first heard Drew Pearson announce that I was to receive a gift of an automobile," proclaimed the grand dragon, "I was not sure I could believe a person like Pearson, so a friend of mine presented me with a toy automobile that night to keep from making a liar out of Drew."

Green went on to acclaim the progress made by the Klan in recent years. During the Klan's low ebb, he said he sometimes traveled far and would be rewarded by only a few members turning up at a meeting.

"But now, wherever I go," boasted the grand dragon, "I am greeted by a packed meeting hall. I believe in the Klan and will fight for it and for white supremacy with the last drop of my blood."

Note—About twenty women attended the ceremony. As people entered the hall they were handed small stickers showing a white-robed figure on a white horse carrying a flaming cross. The slogan on the sticker read: "Yesterday, and Today, and Forever." The turnout was smaller than expected.

Friend of Veterans.

One interesting thing to watch in the new GOP congress is whether the Republicans carry out the LaFollette-Monroney Congressional Reorganization Bill.

Already the whisper is going around Capitol cloakrooms that the Republicans will take the increased salary and pension benefits derived from the Reorganization Bill, but throw overboard provisions for increasing congressional efficiency.

Already some Republicans are maneuvering to prevent consolidation of overlapping committees in order to preserve for themselves cushy chairmanships and extra money for clerical hire.

In this connection one important backstage battle is aimed at preventing motherly GOP Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts from becoming chairman of the veterans committee. Mrs. Rogers has been a tireless worker for the veteran, and as ranking Republican on the veterans committee, she should automatically become its chairman. However, because of her long, running feud with rootin' tootin' John Rankin of Mississippi, several Republicans and Democrats are conspiring to have her passed over.

Fair-minded Joe Martin, the prospective new speaker, has promised Mrs. Rogers that she will get the job, but despite this, the sub-rosa wire-pulling against her continues. If she is passed over, however, Capitol Hill is sure to witness a veterans' march of protest.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Friday, Nov. 26, 1926.

Medals won in state band contest were presented to members of Mansfield high school band in ceremony at Majestic theater.

Analysis of arrests for automobile thefts resulted in this being called "a young man's crime."

Mrs. A G. Borchardt reported to police that $35 had been stolen from unlocked safe in her office 108 Bird building.

Mrs. George Clever, 60, died at her home north of Lexington.

Miss Katharine Laird went to Daytona Beach, Fla., to take position in newspaper office.

Mrs. James Crunkilton, 75, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Adams, 327 North Mulberry street.

Preparations had been made for skating at North park lake—as soon as ice formed. Lights had been strung around the lake.

Donald and Dean Robinson, 10-year-old twins, were given surprise party on birthday anniversary.

The first street railway in America was opened between City Hall and Fourteenth street, New York City, on November 26, 1832.

Warm Homes Assured For Striking Miners.

BRIDGEVILLE, Pa.—If Cap Krug happens to come coasting down your avenue in an empty loading car, you'd better hail the interior boss and give him the word thusly:

"Look, Cap," you'd better say, "don't kid yourself that the miners can't sweat out this soft coal shutdown longer than the rest of the land—because they can!"

Sure, it's going to hurt them and hurt them plenty. If it lasts long enough, they'll be years getting out of debt. And it's true that many of them didn't want to walk out, and don't like Lewis and his attitude.

But we're talking about essentials now—and if you make even these rebellious miners mad enough to stick by Lewis to the end, this fuel feud is going to settle down to a battle of essentials.

That's why when you say "sweat it out," you mean it literally. For most of the miners I've talked to around these Pennsylvania hills during the past week have enough coal on hand to keep their own homes warm for a couple of months, at least, despite the chill which will be spreading shivers across the country.

Their food situation is approximately the same—regardless of their local credit rating—and they can wear old tattered clothing as well and as long as anybody else . . . perhaps longer.

There, in general is your situation on the three essentials. Now, let's look into them a little closer:

COAL—In Bridgeville, Morgan, Greensburg, Library, Brownsville, Connellsville, Uniontown, Mongahela and elsewhere, the answer was the same.

From long habit, sometimes born of necessity, most of the miners took care of their winter's coal needs early.

For one thing, it's easier to get coal before the cold weather rush starts and the companies like the miners to get theirs early. For another, many a miner's shack is located on a hillside, up a dirt road which winter's snow and mud soon makes impassable.

Said John P. Busarello, District Five United Mine Workers president:

"If the boys didn't take care of themselves early, before their roads go to pieces, a lot of them would have to carry it up the hills on their backs." He added that he hasn't had any complaints from the boys about being short. "I think they're in pretty good shape."

A well-known industry spokesman who knows the situation in several companies agreed that "the miners seem to be pretty well fixed. They got theirs early as usual. Also there was a pretty sharp run during the last five days before the walkout. They were taking no chances."

Many miners have gotten their coal so recently that you see it still piled outside their houses.

In Morgan, it was necessary to climb over a two-ton pile to get into a miner's house, high on a hill. Opening the door, he grinned, "How'd you ever get here over the barricade? Haven't had time to get it in yet."

Such last-minute coal deliveries dot these bleak and wintry hillsides. All in all, the miners can stay warm quite a while.

FOOD—Although most miners admit they're in a tough spot for cash, company stores will take care of their necessities on a credit basis. Every store manager I interviewed said he would "continue to advance credit for food, medicine and the like, as in the past."

Generally speaking, this credit varies from two to three dollars a day per miner and the limit seems to run from $200 to $300—although some managers said their stores had "no limit at all" and handled credit "strictly on an individual basis."

In any case, it becomes obvious that most mine families will continue to keep warm and eat for at least two or three months, regardless of whether their menfolks return to the pits.

What's In a Name?

Naming children has been the most satisfying and yet one of the most bungled of parental tasks ever since throat noises evolved into language. Fathers and mothers have savored to the fullest their singular privilege of giving their offspring the names they are to bear all their lives. And still the most doting and well-meaning of parents frequently have abused this right or used it unwisely.

With a sympathetic thought for everyone who goes through life yearning for a given name other than the one he owns, a Northwestern university professor of languages is urging parents to "start a new tradition" and "think up new names that are pleasing to the ear," without a speck of regard for the in-laws who may resent fancied slights.

This idea is all right as far as it goes. The trouble with it is that an attempt to be original may be even worse than bowing to the outlandish demands of family pride. —Kansas City Star.

ODD FACT

The first postoffice in the U. S. was organized in 1691, under a royal patent granted to Thomas Neale.

Dave Boone Says:

THAT charge by the Ukrainian minister that what seemed a small store stick-up in which a Ukrainian U.N. delegate was shot, was a foul political plot seems pretty silly. If U. N. or Jimmy Byrnes has to start investigating stick-ups in New York they won't have time for anything else.

* * *

The minister says that the fact it was a small fruit store disposes of the theory that hold-up men would visit it. He hasn't tried buying a couple of oranges or an apple in New York or he would know better.

* * *

Any store there, big or small, that handles fruit is a center of heavy financial operations and anybody who goes into a fruit store has to be loaded with cash to get any service or results.

Democratic "Wings" Contend For Leadership.

WASHINGTON — The outcome of the fight now warming up among Democrats over their top job in the house of the new Republican congress, that of party floor leader, may influence the course of party policy in the next two years and for the future.

The contest was precipitated by the adamant refusal of present Speaker Rayburn of Texas to take the post. There is no similar contest in the senate, for Senator Barkley of Kentucky is ready to step down from majority to minority leader.

Mr. Rayburn turned down insistent appeals to take the floor leadership. They were prompted by the hope he would be able to hold together the conflicting elements of the party into some sort of effective and militant opposition. The party, in the house as elsewhere, has its rather sharp division between the Southern wing, preponderantly conservative, and the more progressive wing drawn from big urban centers in the east and from the far west.

Geographically, and to a large extent, too, on issues, Sam Rayburn is identified with the Southern wing. But as speaker, and before that as floor leader, the Texan exerted a compromising influence with the warring elements. He probably kept them from each other's throats as often as was possible. His personal popularity, his long experience, and his prestige carried much weight.

In the Democratic regime in the house in the last congress a New Englander, John McCormack of Massachusetts, was floor leader. To that extent, he is the natural heir apparent since Mr. Rayburn has refused the post.

But the South wants the job. It desires the key post in the party in which it will again be predominant, numerically, and in every other way, including preferential committee spots.

The last election whittled away Democrats from big cities and the far west who generally represented progressivism as contrasted with the prevailing conservatism of the southern membership. The party has fallen back again, in the house, into almost complete control of the South.

Southerners know this and intend to make the most of it. They can outvote the eastern and far western wing of the party on the floor leadership, as on legislation. As it shapes up now, the only hope of the non-South elements would be a compromise candidate.

Tradition, as well as the weight of numbers, is on the side of the Southerners. They have predominated in recent years in the posts of speaker and floor leader. Exceptions were Mr. McCormack and the late Homer T. Rainey of Illinois, who was speaker in the first year of the new deal and floor leader before that.

The progressive wing of the party, already much reduced numerically in the house, would be further restricted in its operating effectiveness by a Southern party leader for obvious reasons.

So would President Truman, assuming that he still can be counted in the progressive wing of the party, and that he still will speak up for the legislative program he has espoused, even if he gets little further.

On the other hand, a floor leader from the progressive wing of the party might be able to exert some sort of restraining influence upon the Southerners.

Is "College Education" Really Necessary?

By ELSIE ROBINSON

ELMER THROWBRIDGE, Indianapolis, Ind., has written me a letter on the subject, Should veterans have college educations?

Theoretically we're all for the idea. Practically, we wonder. And Elmer wonders with us, vociferously and at length. Elmer worked his way through college AND HE WOULDN'T DO IT AGAIN FOR TEN DIPLOMAS!

"Dear Elsie:

"Old kid, old pal, you stick right in there pitching. I read your column the other day about veterans going to college and that's why I'm writing now. Yes, we're all for the veterans but it's just as you say—those who think they're doing the most for them may be doing the greatest harm by handing them a college education.

"I worked my way through college and I wouldn't do it again. I washed dishes, waited tables, fired furnaces, was a baby sitter—in fact a little of everything. And all the good it did me you could put on the top of a pin. Yes, I have talked to men who are now president of the company where they were once poor boys who also worked their way through college. But I doubt seriously if the game is worth the candle.

"Someone has said that it takes at least ten years for the pernicious effects of a college education to wear off entirely. It does, at least that long. And when one has worked his own way through college it takes even longer.

"Work my way through college again? Not on your life! Anyone who does is tense, worried, nervous, unable to concentrate, asleep on his feet most of the time. Who wouldn't be after working in the check room at a dance the night before?

"My advice to anyone wanting to go to college is definitely not to work his way through, the way I look at it, unless you can go the way the veterans are going, for free or a reasonable facsimile thereof. But if you can get the old folks to come across with the dough, then it's a nice way to spend your youth; otherwise—nix.

"So I'm all for the veterans getting their college education as it's being handed out, but I want no part of it. At my old alma mater, which is Purdue, they tell me the campus is full of quonset huts and a lad told me the other day that they have converted a war baby factory over in Lafayette into a bunk house for 500 men students with 4 wash basins, 4 toilets and 4 showers. The bunks are two feet apart. Where will they study? Now if that's your idea of college, brother, you can have it. Of course half of them will flunk out after the first couple of months.

(signed) "Elmer Throwbridge"

We are agreed on one point, brother,—colleges are necessary for certain highly specialized services. You can't be a doctor without a college diploma, nor a lawyer, nor an engineer, nor an architect. These professions are beyond the common run and we should make it possible for all young people who are particularly talented in those directions to obtain the necessary instruction.

But I'm with you, Elmer, 100 per cent on this general frenzy to obtain a college degree. It's not the government's fault nor are the kids themselves to blame. Nine times out of 10 it's the result of some silly woman's desire to have her lamby pie shine above the neighbors. And she usually just spoils a good coal heaver.

Nor are the mothers alone to blame. Big business is responsible for a lot of this foolishness. It demands college diplomas for work which a 12-year-old moron could perform with ease.

College life is an anachronism. It has been carried over from the middle ages when the feudal lords ruled the country with their fancy notions. It does not belong in the American scheme of things as many a weary professor knows. It promotes isolation, snobbishness and 500 other varieties of isms that should have no place in these United States.

To the boy with a real love of study, who has a deep hunger for books and willingness to endure the discipline that should go with a student's life, I cry, "God be with you, son." But to the average blundering adolescent nincompoop to whom college merely means football games and girls, I would advise—"Sonny, go home as soon as possible and weed the back yard."

No, I'm not fooling. This thing is undermining our American idea of democracy and spoiling countless good ditch diggers. A few of us—very few—are fit for college life. But about nine out of ten ought to take a job in Dad's cannery and learn the business from the ground up.

No nation can last long if it is deprived of its laborers. And you don't need a diploma to be a good laborer. You just need a determination to work and about three youngsters to keep you at it.

America was built on labor and for labor. I am not now speaking about organized labor. I mean common sweat producing work. It hasn't yet dawned on our leading agitators that they will be out of a job as well as the masses they agitated if they don't quit their demands and put on their work shoes again. But that is exactly what is going to happen.

We are not all born free and equal. Some of us are fit to be president and some are coal heavers, or should be. And this increasing notion on the part of American mothers to educate their children beyond their status is raising Cain with America.
